Danholm Super Insulating Doors

Do the environment and your heating bill a favour and fit super insulating doors with triple glass from Vrogum.

Triple glass can be delivered with an Ug-value down to 0.5 (a normal double glazed super low E glass has an Ug-value of 1.1). With the triple glazed unit you can save up to 30-60 % on your heating bill, depending on the general insulating level of your house.

There has been made no compromise on the security on these doors as they have been fitted with high security multipoint espagnolette locking as standard.

Vrogum has specialised in manufacturing doors suited for each individual house and/or building project - size, colour, design and fittings can be delivered as required.

Because the Vrogum-products can be delivered in any dimensions and colours and they are designed to harmonize with the architectural style of the individual house, they give the finishing touch to any project; modern or classic, private houses or renovation projects. Vrogum offers a countless number of combinations, all of which, of course, are manufactured in high-quality wood.

On the basis of the Old Danish craftsman traditions - combined with modern technology - Vrogum has developed these high insulating outward opening door systems in order to be able to supply the demand of the customers today.

Vrogum offers a number of combinations in both classic and modern style. The Danholm system contains outward opening entrance doors and french doors. All types are combinable with head lights and side lights in one or more items.
